PRINT MEDIA and WEB AUTHOR/PUBLISHER AGREEMENT

Author: John Peck Title: buttcom: ASCII Command Interface for the AVR
Media: x Print x Electronic

Dear Author,

Segment LLC, Circuit Cellar, Inc., and Elektor International Media LLC are hereafter referred to collectively as the "Publisher." The Publisher publishes audioXpress magazine, Voice Coil magazine, The Loudspeaker Industry Sourcebook, The World Tube Directory, Circuit Cellar magazine, and the US edition of Elektor magazine (hereafter the four titles collectively are referred to as the "Publications").

The Publisher has completed a review of your work and/or proposal. The Publisher believes that many of its readers would find the material to be useful and interesting. With that in mind, the Publisher would like to reserve the right to publish your work (hereinafter simply called the "article") in one or all of its Publications or any of the Publisher's designated electronic media.

In accepting this contract, we understand: that you are providing the Publisher with a manuscript and other support materials that will be edited by us to create a publishable article; that we will have worldwide publishing rights to the article we produce from these materials under U.S. and foreign copyright laws; that these rights extend to include both print and electronic media; and the Publisher may grant these rights to others. You retain complete ownership of your original manuscript and materials but you agree that the publishable article that we produce will not be distributed or posted, in whole or in part, by you in print or electronic media without our express written permission.

If the publishable article includes printed or posted software, the Publisher's rights concerning that software is limited to incorporation of the software as part of the article. If there is any software that is essential to the function or operation of the central content of your article, you agree to supply that software (at the very least a workable amount of executable code) at no additional charge to the Publisher so that it can be distributed, either by electronic or print media to its designated readership, to support your article.

You also represent and warrant that this article has not been submitted to another publisher; that the article is original except for such excerpts from copyrighted works as may be included with the written permission of the copyright owners, and that the article does not violate or infringe any copyright trademark, patent, statutory common law, or proprietary rights of others, or contain anything libelous.

You indemnify and shall keep the Publisher indemnified against all costs, claims, liabilities, expenses, losses, or damages incurred or sustained by the Publisher arising out of any breach of warranties given by you in this Agreement. The warranties and indemnity contained in this Agreement shall remain in force notwithstanding the termination of this Agreement.

As is our practice in processing material for publication, we will edit the article to conform to our style, presentation, and format—taking care, of course, not to change your meaning. You will receive a byline in the media in which the article appears.

If the above terms of this contract are agreeable to you, please print a copy of the contract, sign and date it, and fax or mail it back to us as soon as possible. If your Company holds copyright to
